2 killed in wrong-way crash on I-15

An 85-year-old woman driving the wrong way Tuesday on Interstate 15 smashed head-on into another vehicle in an accident that left two people dead and snarled traffic on the busy artery in San Bernardino County.

The woman was traveling north near the Bear Valley onramp in a 2007 Corolla when she slammed into a 1993 Cadillac Eldorado driven by a 67-year-old man, the California Highway Patrol said.

The woman was driving about 70 mph when she hit the Cadillac, knocking it into a third vehicle, the CHP said.

The woman, a Victorville resident, died of her injuries at a hospital. The man was pronounced dead at the scene. He lived in Hesperia. Their names were not released.

The driver of the third vehicle was not injured.
